Agreement on the Applicable Financial Reporting Framework

10. The terms of the engagement should identify the applicable financial reporting framework.

11. As stated in ISA 200 the acceptability of the applicable financial reporting framework adopted by management in preparing the financial statements will depend on the nature of the entity, and on the objective and nature of the financial statements, and whether applicable legislative and regulatory requirements prescribe the financial reporting framework. In some cases, the objective of the financial statements may be prepared and presented in accordance with a financial reporting framework designed to meet the common financial information needs of a wide range of users; in others, or a financial reporting framework designed to meet the financial information needs of specific users.

12. ISA 200 describes the financial reporting frameworks that are presumed to be acceptable for general purpose financial statements, and how the auditor determines the acceptability of other financial reporting frameworks. Legislative and regulatory requirements often identify the applicable financial reporting framework for general purpose financial statements. In most cases, the applicable financial reporting framework will be established by a standards setting organization that is authorized or recognized to promulgate standards in the jurisdiction in which the entity is registered or operates.

13. The auditor should accept an engagement for an audit of financial statements only when the auditor concludes that the applicable financial reporting framework adopted by management is acceptable or when it is required by law or regulation. Where law or regulation prohibits an auditor from refusing an engagement to audit financial statements, the auditor should consider the effect of any deficiencies in the applicable financial reporting framework on the audit opinion in accordance with [proposed] ISA 705, “Modifications to the Opinion in the Independent Auditor’s Report.” [Part of paragraph moved to 14a]

14. Without an acceptable financial reporting framework management does not have an appropriate basis for preparing and presenting the financial statements and the auditor does not have suitable criteria for evaluating the entity’s financial statements. In these circumstances, unless use of the financial reporting framework is required by law or regulation, the auditor encourages management to address the deficiencies in the financial reporting framework or to adopt another financial reporting framework that is acceptable. [Part of paragraph moved to 14b]

14a. When law or regulation requires use of a financial reporting framework for general purpose financial statements that the auditor would otherwise considers to be unacceptable, the auditor should accept the engagement only if the any deficiencies in the framework can be adequately explained disclosed in the financial statements to avoid misleading users.

14b. When the financial reporting framework is required by law or regulation and management has no choice but to adopt this framework, the auditor accepts the engagement only if the any deficiencies can be adequately explained disclosed in the financial statements to avoid misleading users. In addition, the auditor includes an emphasis of matter paragraph in the auditor’s report—see in accordance with [proposed] ISA 7016, “Modifications to the Independent Auditor’s ReportEmphasis of Matter Paragraphs and Other Matters Paragraphs in the Independent Auditor’s Report.” paragraph 5 and, unless required by law or regulation to do so, the auditor does not express the opinion on the financial statements using the terms phrases “give a true and fair view” or “are presented fairly, in all material respects,” in accordance with the applicable financial reporting framework. If the financial statements do not adequately disclose the deficiencies in the financial reporting framework to avoid misleading users, the auditor should consider the effect of the deficiencies the audit opinion in accordance with [proposed] ISA 705.

15. When the auditor accepts an engagement involving an applicable financial reporting framework that is not established by an organization that is authorized or recognized to promulgate standards for general purpose financial statements of certain types of entities, the auditor may encounter deficiencies in that the applicable financial reporting framework that were not anticipated when the engagement was initially accepted and that indicate that the framework is not acceptable for general purpose financial statements. In these circumstances, the auditor discusses the deficiencies with management and the ways in which such deficiencies may be addressed. If the deficiencies result in financial statements that are misleading and there is agreement that management will adopt another financial reporting framework that is acceptable, the auditor refers to the change in the financial reporting framework is agreed in a new terms of engagement letter. If management refuses to adopt another financial reporting framework, or where the financial reporting framework is required by law or regulation, the auditor considers the impact effect of the deficiencies in the framework on the audit opinion auditor’s report, see ISA 704 in accordance with [proposed] ISA 705.

Form of Opinion

15a. ISA 200 discusses the form of opinion to be expressed as a result of an audit of financial statements. When wording prescribed by law or regulation differs significantly from the phrases described in ISA 200, the auditor considers whether there may be a risk that users might misunderstand the assurance obtained in the audit of the financial statements. In such circumstances, the auditor considers whether the risk of misunderstanding can be mitigated through appropriate explanation in the auditor’s report (see [proposed] ISA 706).
15b. When wording prescribed by law or regulation implies or requires a level of assurance different from that ordinarily obtained in an audit of financial statements (for example, when it requires a certification of fact), the auditor confirms the required level of assurance with management, and considers whether the required level of assurance can be obtained, for example, by amending the scope of the audit. If the auditor concludes that the required level of assurance cannot be obtained, the auditor should not accept the engagement.

15c. Law or regulation, however, may prohibit an auditor from refusing such an engagement to audit financial statements. An audit conducted in accordance with such law or regulation will not comply with the ISAs.
