Audit Evidence – What Have We Heard So Far?

• Other Issues Raised By Stakeholders
  – Medium-Tier Firms
    o Technology not optimally utilized due to different interpretations by Regulators (also in the context of risk of over-reliance on technology)
    o Acknowledgement of objectivity concerns, however the nature of an audit results in natural bias towards confirmatory evidence o Where client, such as some less complex entities (LCE), have weak controls – how does this affect the auditor’s use of automated tools and techniques (ATT)?
    o Status or acceptability of oral confirmations / representations
  – Representatives and Inspectors from Audit Oversight Bodies
    o Use of technology – Quality management practices to be implemented by firms
  – IOSCO
    o General concern with auditor’s exercise of PS (including use of technology, management experts)
    o Reliance on the client’s information system (‘black box’) without reconciling inputs and outputs
    o Recognizing extent of fraudulent or false information – should the AEWG include a forensic specialist?
Audit Evidence – What Have We Heard So Far?

• Other Issues Raised By Stakeholders
  – SMPC
    o Questions how the auditor’s use of technology affects audit documentation
    o Other broader concerns (not limited to AE) – although supportive of AE initiative, caution against ‘automation bias’
      • High cost of ATT, including training of staff
      • Concern about inferring that the use of ATT is required to achieve audit quality
      • Revise standards but ‘speed’ is not the main goal – fit for purpose for all auditors

• What should the IAASB do?
  – Broad support for standard setting
  – Keep the standards principle based
  – PS requirements are adequate – enhance application material
Audit Evidence

• Other Resources of IG&R
  – Academic research
  – AICPA Auditing Standards Board
    o Project to revise AU-C section 500, Audit Evidence
    o Exposure Draft (ED) June 2019
    o Forty comment letters
    o ASB to vote on standard in April 2020
