~~Proposed~~ International Standard on Quality Management (ISQM) 1, Quality Management for Firms that Perform Audits or Reviews of Financial Statements, or Other Assurance or Related Services Engagements, should be read in conjunction with the Preface to the International Quality Management, Auditing, Review, Other Assurance, and Related Services Pronouncements.

Introduction	Application and Other Explanatory Material
Scope of this ISQM	Scope of this ISQM (Ref: Para. 3–4)
1. This International Standard on Quality Management (ISQM) deals with a firm's responsibilities to design, implement and operate a system of quality management for audits or reviews of financial statements, or other assurance or related services engagements. 2. Engagement quality reviews form part of the firm's system of quality management and: (a) This ISQM addresses the firm's responsibility to establish policies or procedures addressingfor which engagements that are required to be subject to engagement quality reviews. (b) ISQM 2¹ deals with the appointment and eligibility of the engagement quality reviewer, and the performance and documentation of the engagement quality review.

3. Other pronouncements of the International Auditing and Assurance Standards Board (IAASB): (a) Are premised on the basis that the firm is subject to the ISQMs or to national requirements that are at least as demanding;² and (b) Include requirements for engagement partners and other engagement teams members regarding quality management at the engagement level. For example, ISA 220 (Revised) deals with the specific responsibilities of the auditor regarding quality management at the engagement level for an audit of financial statements and the related	A1. Other pronouncements of the IAASB, including ISRE 2400 (Revised)³ and ISAE 3000 (Revised),⁴ also establish requirements for the engagement partner for the management of quality at the engagement level.

responsibilities of the engagement partner. (Ref: Para. A1)
4. This ISQM is to be read in conjunction with relevant ethical requirements. Law, regulation or relevant ethical requirements may establish responsibilities for the firm's management of quality beyond those described in this ISQM. (Ref: Para. A2)	A2. The IESBA Code⁵ contains requirements and application material for professional accountants that enable professional accountants to meet their responsibility to act in the public interest. As indicated in paragraph 15, in the context of engagement performance as described in this ISQM, the consistent performance of quality engagements forms part of the professional accountant's responsibility to act in the public interest.
5. This ISQM applies to all firms performing audits or reviews of financial statements, or other assurance or related services engagements (i.e., if the firm performs any of these engagements, this ISQM applies and the system of quality management that is established in accordance with the requirements of this ISQM enables the consistent performance by the firm of all such engagements).

The Firm's System of Quality Management	The Firm's System of Quality Management (Ref: Para. 6–9)
6. A system of quality management operates in a continual and iterative manner and is responsive to changes in the nature and circumstances of the firm and its engagements. It also does not operate in a linear manner. However, for the purposes of this ISQM, a system of quality management addresses the following eight components: (Ref: Para. A3) <ul style="list-style-type: none"> (a) The firm's risk assessment process; (b) Governance and leadership; (c) Relevant ethical requirements; (d) Acceptance and continuance of client relationships and specific engagements; (e) Engagement performance; (f) Resources; (g) Information and communication; and 	A3. The firm may use different terminology or frameworks to describe the components of its system of quality management.

(h) The monitoring and remediation process.
7. This ISQM requires the firm to apply a risk-based approach in designing, implementing and operating the components of the system of quality management in an interconnected and coordinated manner such that the firm proactively manages the quality of engagements performed by the firm. (Ref: Para. A4)	A4. Examples of the interconnected nature of the components include the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The firm’s risk assessment process sets out the process the firm is required to follow in implementing a risk-based approach across the system of quality management. • The governance and leadership component establishes the environment that supports the system of quality management. • The resources and information and communication components enable the design, implementation and operation of the system of quality management. • The monitoring and remediation process is a process designed to monitor the entire system of quality management. The results of the monitoring and remediation process provide information that is relevant to the firm’s risk assessment process. • There may be interrelationships between specific matters, for example, certain aspects of relevant ethical requirements are relevant to accepting and continuing client relationships and specific engagements.
8. The risk-based approach is embedded in the requirements of this ISQM through: (a) Establishing quality objectives. The quality objectives established by the firm consist of objectives in relation to the components of the system of quality management that are to be achieved by the firm. The firm is required to

establish the quality objectives specified by this ISQM and any additional quality objectives considered necessary by the firm to achieve the objectives of the system of quality management. (b) Identifying and assessing risks to the achievement of the quality objectives (referred to in this standard as quality risks). The firm is required to identify and assess quality risks to provide a basis for the design and implementation of responses. (c) Designing and implementing responses to address the quality risks. The nature, timing and extent of the firm's responses to address the quality risks are based on, and are responsive to, the reasons for the assessments given to the quality risks.
9. This ISQM requires that, at least annually, the individual(s)	A5. Reasonable assurance is obtained when the system of quality management reduces to an acceptably low level the risk that the objectives stated in paragraph 14(a) and (b) are not achieved. Reasonable

assigned ultimate responsibility and accountability for the system of quality management, on behalf of the firm, evaluates the system of quality management and concludes whether the system of quality management provides the firm with reasonable assurance that the objectives of the system, stated in paragraph 14(a) and (b), are being achieved. (Ref: Para. A5)	assurance is not an absolute level of assurance, because there are inherent limitations of a system of quality management. Such limitations include that human judgment in decision making can be faulty and that breakdowns in a firm's system of quality management may occur, for example, due to human error or behavior or failures in information technology (IT) applications.
Scalability 10. In applying a risk-based approach, the firm is required to take into account: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> (a) The nature and circumstances of the firm; and (b) The nature and circumstances of the engagements performed by the firm. Accordingly, the design of the firm's system of quality management, in particular the complexity and formality of the system, will vary. For example, a firm that performs different types of engagements for a wide

variety of entities, including audits of financial statements of listed entities, will likely need to have a more complex and formalized system of quality management and supporting documentation, than a firm that performs only reviews of financial statements or compilation engagements.
Networks and Service Providers 11. This ISQM addresses the firm's responsibilities when the firm: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> (a) Belongs to a network, and the firm complies with network requirements or uses network services in the system of quality management or in the performance of engagements; or (b) Uses resources from a service provider in the system of quality management or in the performance of engagements. Even when the firm complies with network requirements or uses network services or resources

from a service provider, the firm is responsible for its system of quality management.
Authority of this ISQM	Authority of this ISQM (Ref: Para. 12)
12. Paragraph 14 of this ISQM contains the objective of the firm in following this ISQM.5, and This ISQM contains: (Ref: Para. A6) (a) Requirements designed to enable the firm to meet the at stated objective in paragraph 14; In addition, this ISQM contains (Ref: Para. A7) (b) Related guidance in the form of application and other explanatory material; and (Ref: Para. A8) (c) Introductory material that provides context relevant to a proper understanding of this ISQM;5, and (d) Definitions. (Ref: Para. A6–A9)	A6. The objective of this ISQM provides the context in which the requirements of this ISQM are set, establishes the desired outcome of this ISQM and is intended to assist the firm in understanding what needs to be accomplished and, where necessary, the appropriate means of doing so. A7. The requirements of this ISQM are expressed using “shall.” A8. Where necessary, the application and other explanatory material provides further explanation of the requirements and guidance for carrying them out. In particular, it may: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Explain more precisely what a requirement means or is intended to cover; and • Include examples that illustrate how the requirements might be applied. While such guidance does not in itself impose a requirement, it is relevant to the proper application of the requirements. The application and other explanatory material may also provide background information on matters addressed in this ISQM. Where appropriate, additional considerations specific to public sector audit organizations are included within the application and other explanatory material. These additional considerations assist in the application of the requirements in this ISQM. They do not, however, limit or reduce the responsibility of the firm to apply and comply with the requirements in this ISQM. A9. This ISQM includes, under the heading “Definitions,” a description of the meanings attributed to certain terms for purposes of this ISQM. These definitions are provided to assist in the consistent application and interpretation of this ISQM, and are not intended to override definitions that may be established for other purposes, whether in law, regulation or otherwise. The Glossary of Terms relating to International Standards issued by the IAASB in the Handbook of International Quality Management, Auditing, Review, Other Assurance, and Related Services Pronouncements published by IFAC includes the terms defined in this ISQM. The Glossary of Terms also includes descriptions of other terms found in the ISQMs to assist in common and consistent interpretation and translation.

Effective Date
13. Systems of quality management in compliance with this ISQM are required to be designed and implemented by December 15, 2022, and the evaluation of the system of quality management required by paragraphs 53–54 of this ISQM is required to be performed within one year following December 15, 2022.
Objective
14. The objective of the firm is to design, implement and operate a system of quality management for audits or reviews of financial statements, or other assurance or related services engagements performed by the firm, that provides the firm with reasonable assurance that: (a) The firm and its personnel fulfill their responsibilities in accordance with professional standards and applicable legal and regulatory requirements, and conduct engagements in accordance with such

standards and requirements; and (b) Engagement reports issued by the firm or engagement partners are appropriate in the circumstances. 15. The public interest is served by the consistent performance of quality engagements. The design, implementation and operation of the system of quality management enables the consistent performance of quality engagements by providing the firm with reasonable assurance that the objectives of the system of quality management, stated in paragraph 14(a) and (b), are achieved. Quality engagements are achieved through planning and performing engagements and reporting on them in accordance with professional standards and applicable legal and regulatory requirements. Achieving the objectives of those standards and complying with the requirements of applicable law or regulation involves exercising professional judgment and, when

applicable to the type of engagement, exercising professional skepticism.
16. For purposes of this ISQM, the following terms have the meanings attributed below:
(a) Deficiency in the firm’s system of quality management (referred to as “deficiency” in this ISQM) – This exists when: (Ref: Para. A10, A158–A159) (i) A quality objective required to achieve the objective of the system of quality management is not established; (ii) A quality risk, or combination of quality risks, is not identified or properly assessed; (Ref: Para. A11) (iii) A response, or combination of responses, does not	Deficiency (Ref: Para. 16(a)) A10. The firm identifies deficiencies through evaluating findings. A deficiency may arise from a finding, or a combination of findings. A11. When a deficiency is identified as a result of a quality risk, or combination of quality risks, not being identified or properly assessed, the response(s) to address such quality risk(s) may also be absent, or not appropriately designed or implemented. A12. The other aspects of the system of quality management consist of the requirements in this ISQM addressing: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Assigning responsibilities (paragraphs 20–22); • The firm’s risk assessment process; • The monitoring and remediation process; and • The evaluation of the system of quality management.  Examples of deficiencies related to other aspects of the system of quality management <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The firm’s risk assessment process fails to identify information that indicates changes in the nature and circumstances of the firm and its engagements and the need to establish additional quality objectives, or modify the quality risks or responses. • The firm’s monitoring and remediation process is not designed or implemented in a manner that:

reduce to an acceptably low level the likelihood of a related quality risk occurring because the response(s) is not properly designed, implemented or operating effectively; or (iv) An other aspect of the system of quality management is absent, or not properly designed, implemented or operating effectively, such that a requirement of this ISQM has not been addressed. (Ref: Para. A12)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ Provides relevant, reliable and timely information about the design, implementation and operation of the system of quality management. ○ Enables the firm to take appropriate actions to respond to identified deficiencies such that deficiencies are remediated on a timely basis. ● The individual(s) assigned ultimate responsibility and accountability for the system of quality management does not undertake the annual evaluation of the system of quality management.
(b) Engagement documentation – The record of work performed, results obtained, and conclusions the practitioner reached (terms such as “working papers”

or “work papers” are sometimes used).
(c) Engagement partner ⁶ – The partner or other individual, appointed by the firm, who is responsible for the engagement and its performance, and for the report that is issued on behalf of the firm, and who, where required, has the appropriate authority from a professional, legal or regulatory body.
(d) Engagement quality review – An objective evaluation of the significant judgments made by the engagement team and the conclusions reached thereon, performed by the engagement quality reviewer and completed on or before the date of the engagement report.
(e) Engagement quality reviewer – A partner, other individual in the firm, or an

external individual, appointed by the firm to perform the engagement quality review.
(f) Engagement team – All partners and staff performing the engagement, and any other individuals who perform procedures on the engagement, excluding an external expert engaged by the firm or a network firm⁷ and internal auditors who provide direct assistance on an engagement. (Ref: Para. A13)	Engagement Team (Ref: Para. 16(f)) A13. Proposed ISA 220 (Revised)⁸ provides guidance in applying the definition of engagement team in the context of an audit of financial statements.
(g) External inspections – Inspections or investigations, undertaken by an external oversight authority, related to the firm's system of quality management or engagements performed	External Inspections (Ref: Para. 16(g)) A14. In some circumstances, an external oversight authority may undertake other types of inspections, for example, thematic reviews that focus on, for a selection of firms, particular aspects of audit engagements or firm-wide practices.

by the firm. (Ref: Para. A14)
(h) Findings (in relation to a system of quality management) – Information about the design, implementation and operation of the system of quality management that has been accumulated from the performance of monitoring activities, external inspections and other relevant sources, which indicates that one or more deficiencies may exist. (Ref: Para. A15–A17)	Findings (Ref: Para. 16(h)) A15. As part of accumulating findings from monitoring activities, external inspections and other relevant sources, the firm may identify other observations about the firm’s system of quality management, such as positive outcomes or opportunities for the firm to improve, or further enhance, the system of quality management. Paragraph A157^A explains how other observations may be used by the firm in the system of quality management. A16. Paragraph A148 provides examples of information from other relevant sources. A17. Monitoring activities include monitoring at the engagement level, such as inspection of engagements. Furthermore, external inspections and other relevant sources may include information that relates to specific engagements. As a result, information about the design, implementation and operation of the system of quality management includes engagement-level findings that may be indicative of findings in relation to the system of quality management.
(i) Firm – A sole practitioner, partnership or corporation or other entity of professional accountants, or public sector equivalent. (Ref: Para. A18)	Firm (Ref: Para. 16(i)) A18. The definition of “firm” in relevant ethical requirements may differ from the definition set out in this ISQM.
(j) Listed entity – An entity whose shares, stock or debt are quoted or listed on a recognized stock exchange, or are marketed

under the regulations of a recognized stock exchange or other equivalent body.
(k) Network firm – A firm or entity that belongs to the firm’s network.
(l) Network – A larger structure: (Ref: Para. A19–A20) (i) That is aimed at cooperation, and (ii) That is clearly aimed at profit or cost-sharing or shares common ownership, control or management, common quality management policies or procedures, common business strategy, the use of a common brand name, or a significant part of professional resources.	Network (Ref: Para. 16(l), 48) A19. Networks and the firms within the network may be structured in a variety of ways. For example, in the context of a firm’s system of quality management: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The network may establish requirements for the firm related to its system of quality management, or provide services that are used by the firm in its system of quality management or in the performance of engagements; • Other firms within the network may provide services (e.g., resources) that are used by the firm in its system of quality management or in the performance of engagements; or • Other structures or organizations within the network may establish requirements for the firm related to its system of quality management, or provide services. For the purposes of this ISQM, any network requirements or network services that are obtained from the network, another firm within the network or another structure or organization in the network are considered “network requirements or network services.”

(m) Partner – Any individual with authority to bind the firm with respect to the performance of a professional services engagement.
(n) Personnel – Partners and staff in the firm. (Ref: Para. A21–A22)	Personnel (Ref: Para. 16(n)) A21. In addition to personnel (i.e., individuals in the firm), the firm may use individuals external to the firm in performing activities in the system of quality management or in the performance of engagements. For example, individuals external to the firm may include individuals from other network firms (e.g., individuals in a service delivery center of a network firm) or individuals employed by a service provider (e.g., a component auditor from another firm not within the firm’s network). A22. Personnel also includes partners and staff personnel in other structures of the firm, such as a service delivery center in the firm.
(o) Professional judgment – The application of relevant training, knowledge and experience, within the context of professional standards, in making informed decisions about the courses of action that are appropriate in the design, implementation and operation of the firm’s system of quality management.

(p) Professional standards – IAASB Engagement Standards, as defined in the IAASB’s Preface to the International Quality Management, Auditing, Review, Other Assurance, and Related Services Pronouncements, and relevant ethical requirements.
(q) Quality objectives – The desired outcomes in relation to the components of the system of quality management to be achieved by the firm.
(r) Quality risk – A risk that has a reasonable possibility of: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> (i) Occurring; and (ii) Individually, or in combination with other risks, adversely affecting the achievement of one or more quality objectives.

(s) Reasonable assurance – In the context of the ISQMs, a high, but not absolute, level of assurance.
(t) Relevant ethical requirements – Principles of professional ethics and ethical requirements that are applicable to professional accountants when undertaking engagements that are audits or reviews of financial statements or other assurance or related services engagements. Relevant ethical requirements ordinarily comprise the provisions of the IESBA Code related to audits or reviews of financial statements, or other assurance or related services engagements, together with national requirements that are more restrictive. (Ref: Para. A23–A25, A62)	Relevant Ethical Requirements (Ref: Para. 16(t), 29) A23. The relevant ethical requirements that are applicable in the context of a system of quality management may vary, depending on the nature and circumstances of the firm and its engagements. The term “professional accountant” may be defined in relevant ethical requirements. For example, the IESBA Code defines the term “professional accountant” and further explains the scope of provisions in the IESBA Code that apply to individual professional accountants in public practice and their firms. A24. The IESBA Code addresses circumstances when law or regulation precludes the professional accountant from complying with certain parts of the IESBA Code. It further acknowledges that some jurisdictions might have provisions in law or regulation that differ from or go beyond those set out in the IESBA Code and that professional accountants in those jurisdictions need to be aware of those differences and comply with the more stringent provisions, unless prohibited by law or regulation. A25. Various provisions of the relevant ethical requirements may apply only to individuals in the context of the performance of engagements and not the firm itself. For example: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Part 2 of the IESBA Code applies to individuals who are professional accountants in public practice when they are performing professional activities pursuant to their relationship with the firm, whether as a contractor, employee or owner, and may be relevant in the context of the performance of engagements. • Certain requirements in Parts 3 and 4 of the IESBA Code also apply to individuals who address the individual professional accountants in public practice when they are performing professional activities for clients. Compliance with such relevant ethical requirements by individuals may need to be addressed by the firm’s system of quality management.

	Example of relevant ethical requirements that are applicable only to individuals and not the firm, and which relate to the performance of engagements Part 2 of the IESBA Code addresses pressure to breach the fundamental principles, and includes requirements that an individual shall not: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Allow pressure from others to result in a breach of compliance with the fundamental principles; or • Place pressure on others that the accountant knows, or has reason to believe, would result in the other individuals breaching the fundamental principles. For example, circumstances may arise when, in performing an engagement, an individual considers that the engagement partner or another senior member of the engagement team has pressured them to breach the fundamental principles.
(u) Response (in relation to a system of quality management) – Policies or procedures designed and implemented by the firm to address one or more quality risk(s): (Ref: Para. A26–A28, A50) (i) Policies are statements of what should, or should not, be done to address a quality risk(s). Such statements may be	Response (Ref: Para. 16(u)) A26. Policies are implemented through the actions of personnel and other individuals whose actions are subject to the policies (including engagement teams), or through their restraint from taking actions that would conflict with the firm’s policies. A27. Procedures may be mandated, through formal documentation or other communications, or may result from behaviors that are not mandated but are rather conditioned by the firm’s culture. Procedures may be enforced through the actions permitted by IT applications, or other aspects of the firm’s IT environment. A28. If the firm uses individuals external to the firm in the system of quality management or in the performance of engagements, different policies or procedures may need to be designed by the firm to address the actions of the individuals. Proposed ISA 220 (Revised)⁹ provides guidance when different policies or procedures may need to be designed by the firm to address the actions of individuals external to the firm in the context of an audit of financial statements.

documented, explicitly stated in communications or implied through actions and decisions. (ii) Procedures are actions to implement policies.
(v) Service provider (in the context of this ISQM) – An individual or organization external to the firm that provides a resource that is used in the system of quality management or in the performance of engagements. Service providers exclude the firm’s network, other network firms or other structures or organizations in the network. (Ref: Para. A28A, A105)	Service Provider (Ref: Para. 16(v)) A28A. Service providers include component auditors from other firms not within the firm’s network.
(w) Staff – Professionals, other than partners, including any experts the firm employs.

(x) System of quality management – A system designed, implemented and operated by a firm to provide the firm with reasonable assurance that: (i) The firm and its personnel fulfill their responsibilities in accordance with professional standards and applicable legal and regulatory requirements, and conduct engagements in accordance with such standards and requirements; and (ii) Engagement reports issued by the firm or engagement partners are appropriate in the circumstances.

Requirements
Applying, and Complying with, Relevant Requirements	Applying, and Complying with, Relevant Requirements (Ref: Para. 17)
17. The firm shall comply with each requirement of this ISQM unless the requirement is not relevant to the firm because of the nature and circumstances of the firm or its engagements. (Ref: Para. A29)	A29. Examples of when a requirement of this ISQM may not be relevant to the firm <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The firm is a sole practitioner. For example, the requirements addressing the organizational structure and assigning roles, responsibilities and authority within the firm, direction, supervision and review and addressing differences of opinion may not be relevant. • The firm only performs engagements that are related services engagements. For example, if the firm is not required to maintain independence for the-related services engagements, the requirement to obtain a documented confirmation of compliance with independence requirements from all personnel would not be relevant.
18. The individual(s) assigned ultimate responsibility and accountability for the firm's system of quality management, and the individual(s) assigned operational responsibility for the firm's system of quality management overall shall have an understanding of this ISQM, including the application and other explanatory material, to understand the objective of this ISQM and to apply its requirements properly.	A29A.— Paragraph 20 addresses the assignment of responsibilities.
System of Quality Management	System of Quality Management

19. The firm shall design, implement and operate a system of quality management. In doing so, the firm shall exercise professional judgment, taking into account the nature and circumstances of the firm and its engagements. The governance and leadership component of the system of quality management establishes the environment that supports the design, implementation and operation of the system of quality management. (Ref: Para. A30–A31)	Design, Implement and Operate a System of Quality Management (Ref: Para. 19) A30. Quality management is not a separate function of the firm; it is the integration of a culture that demonstrates a commitment to quality with the firm’s strategy, operational activities and business processes. As a result, designing the system of quality management and the firm’s operational activities and business processes in an integrated manner may promote a harmonious approach to managing the firm, and enhance the effectiveness of quality management. A31. The quality of professional judgments exercised by the firm is likely to be enhanced when individuals making such judgments demonstrate an attitude that includes an inquiring mind, which involves: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Considering the source, relevance and sufficiency of information obtained about the system of quality management, including information related to the nature and circumstances of the firm and its engagements; and • Being open and alert to a need for further investigation or other action.
Responsibilities 20. The firm shall assign: (Ref: Para. A32–A35) (a) Ultimate responsibility and accountability for the system of quality management to the firm’s chief executive officer or the firm’s managing partner (or equivalent) or, if appropriate, the firm’s managing board of partners (or equivalent);	Responsibilities (Ref: Para. 20–21, 28(d)) A32. The governance and leadership component includes a quality objective that the firm has an organizational structure and assignment of roles, responsibilities and authority that is appropriate to enable the design, implementation and operation of the firm’s system of quality management. A33. Service Providers (Ref: Para. 16(v), 32(h))

In some circumstances, the firm may use resources that are provided by a service provider, particularly in circumstances when the firm does not have access to the appropriate resources internally. Notwithstanding that a firm may use resources from a service provider, the firm remains responsible for its system of quality management.

Examples of resources from a service provider

- Individuals engaged to perform the firm's monitoring activities or engagement quality reviews, or to provide consultation on technical matters.
- A commercial IT application used to perform audit engagements.
- Individuals performing procedures on the firm's engagements, for example, component auditors from other firms not within the firm's network or individuals engaged to attend a physical inventory count at a remote location.
- An auditor's external expert usedengaged by the firm to assist the engagement team in obtaining audit evidence.

In doing so, the firm may consider the nature of the resources provided by service providers, how and the extent to which they will be used by the firm, and the general characteristics of the service providers used by the firm (e.g., the varying types of other professional services firms that are used), in order to identify and assess quality risks related to the use of such resources. A107. ¹⁹ ISA 260 (Revised), Communication with Those Charged with Governance, paragraphs 11–13

²⁰ ISA 260 (Revised), paragraphs 18–22

- The nature and circumstances of the firm.
- The nature of the firm's operating environment, such as customary business practice in the firm's jurisdiction and the characteristics of the financial markets in which the firm operates.
- The extent to which the firm has already communicated with external parties in accordance with law or regulation (i.e., whether further communication is needed, and if so, the matters to be communicated).
- The expectations of stakeholders in the firm's jurisdiction, including the understanding and interest that external parties have expressed about the engagements undertaken by the firm, and the firm's processes in performing the engagements.
- Jurisdictional trends.
- The information that is already available to external parties.
- How external parties may use the information, and their general understanding of matters related to firms' system of quality management and audits or reviews of financial statements, or other assurance or related services engagements.
- The public interest benefits of external communication and whether it would reasonably be expected to outweigh the costs (monetary or otherwise) of such communication.

The above matters may also affect the information provided by the firm in the communication, and the nature, timing and extent and appropriate form of communication.

Nature, Timing and Extent and Appropriate Form of Communication with External Parties (Ref. Para: 34\(e\)\(iii\))

A130. The firm may consider the following attributes in preparing information that is communicated to external parties:

- The information is specific to the circumstances of the firm. Relating the matters in the firm's communication directly to the specific circumstances of the firm may help to minimize the potential that such information becomes overly standardized and less useful over time.

- The information is presented in a clear and understandable manner, and the manner of presentation is neither misleading nor would inappropriately influence the users of the communication (e.g., the information is presented in a manner that is appropriately balanced towards positive and negative aspects of the matter being communicated).
- The information is accurate and complete in all material respects and does not contain information that is misleading.
- The information takes into consideration the information needs of the users for whom it is intended. In considering the information needs of the users, the firm may consider matters such as the level of detail that users would find meaningful and whether users have access to relevant information through other sources (e.g., the firm's website).

A131. The firm uses professional judgment in determining, in the circumstances, the appropriate form of communication with the external party, including communication with those charged with governance when performing an audit of financial statements of listed entities, which may be made orally or in writing. Accordingly, the form of communication may vary.

Examples of form of communication to external parties

- ~~A webpage, videos or interviews.~~
- A publication such as a transparency report or audit quality report.
- Targeted written communication to specific stakeholders (e.g., information about the results of the firm's monitoring and remediation process).
- ~~Direct conversations and interactions with the external party, including through social media~~ (e.g., discussions between the engagement team and those charged with governance).
- A webpage.
- Other forms of digital media, such as social media, or interviews or presentations via webcast or video.

Engagements Subject to an Engagement Quality Review

Engagement Quality Review Required by Law or Regulation (Ref: Para. 34(f)(ii))

	A133. Law or regulation may require an engagement quality review to be performed, for example, for audit engagements for entities that: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Are public interest entities as defined in a particular jurisdiction;• Operate in the public sector or which are recipients of government funding, or entities with public accountability;• Operate in certain industries (e.g., financial institutions such as banks, insurance companies and pension funds);• Meet a specified asset threshold; or• Are under the management of a court or judicial process (e.g., liquidation). Engagement Quality Review as a Response to Address One or More Quality Risk(s) (Ref: Para. 34(f)(iii)) A134. The firm's understanding of the conditions, events, circumstances, actions or inactions that may adversely affect the achievement of the quality objectives, as required by paragraph 25(a)(ii), relates to the nature and circumstances of the engagements performed by the firm. In designing and implementing responses to address one or more quality risk(s), the firm may determine that an engagement quality review is an appropriate response based on the reasons for the assessments given to the quality risks. Examples of conditions, events, circumstances, actions or inactions giving rise to one or more quality risk(s) for which an engagement quality review may be an appropriate responseThose relating to the types of engagements performed by the firm and reports to be issued:<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Engagements that involve a high level of complexity or judgment, such as:<ul style="list-style-type: none">○ Audits of financial statements for entities operating in an industry that typically has accounting estimates with a high degree of estimation uncertainty (e.g., certain large financial institutions or mining entities), or for entities for which uncertainties exist related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on their ability to continue as a going concern.○ Assurance engagements that require specialized skills and knowledge in measuring

	A135. The firm’s responses to address quality risks may include other forms of engagement reviews that are not an engagement quality review. For example, for audits of financial statements, the firm’s responses may include reviews of the engagement team’s procedures relating to significant risks, or reviews of certain significant judgments, by personnel who have specialized technical expertise. In some cases, these other types of engagement reviews may be undertaken in addition to an engagement quality review. A136. In some cases, the firm may determine that there are no audits or other engagements for which an engagement quality review or another form of engagement review is an appropriate response to address the quality risk(s). Public sector considerations A137. The nature and circumstances of public sector entities (e.g., due to their size and complexity, the range of their stakeholders, or the nature of the services they provide) may give rise to quality risks. In these circumstances, the firm may determine that an engagement quality review is an appropriate response to address such quality risks. Law or regulation may establish additional reporting requirements for the auditors of public sector entities (e.g., a separate report on instances of non-compliance with law or regulation to the legislature or other governing body or communicating such instances in the auditor’s report on the financial statements). In such cases, the firm may also consider the complexity of such reporting, and its importance to users, in determining whether an engagement quality review is an appropriate response.
Monitoring and Remediation Process	Monitoring and Remediation Process (Ref: Para. 35–47)

For example: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Given the inherent limitations of a system of quality management, the firm’s identification of deficiencies is not unusual and it is an important aspect of the system of quality management, because prompt identification of deficiencies enables the firm to remediate them in a timely and effective manner, and contributes to a culture of continual improvement.

Designing and Performing Monitoring Activities 36. The firm shall design and perform monitoring activities to provide a basis for the identification of deficiencies.	Designing and Performing Monitoring Activities (Ref: Para. 376–389)
37. In determining the nature, timing and extent of the monitoring activities, the firm shall take into account: (Ref: Para. A139–A142) (a) The reasons for the assessments given to the quality risks; (b) The design of the responses; (c) The design of the firm’s risk assessment process and monitoring and remediation process; (Ref: Para. A143–A144)	A139. The firm’s monitoring activities may comprise a combination of ongoing monitoring activities and periodic monitoring activities. Ongoing monitoring activities are generally routine activities, built into the firm’s processes and performed on a real-time basis, reacting to changing conditions. Periodic monitoring activities are conducted at certain intervals by the firm. In most cases, ongoing monitoring activities provide information about the system of quality management in a timelier manner. A140. Monitoring activities may include the inspection of in-process engagements. Inspections of engagements are designed to monitor that an aspect of the system of quality management is designed, implemented and operating in the manner intended. In some circumstances, the system of quality management may include responses that are designed to review engagements while they are in the process of being performed that appear similar in nature to an inspection of in-process engagements (e.g., reviews that are designed to detect failures or shortcomings in the system of quality management so that they can prevent a quality risk from occurring). The purpose of the activity will guide its design and implementation, and where it fits within the system of quality management (i.e., whether it is an inspection of an in-process engagement that is a monitoring activity or a review of an engagement that is a response to address a quality risk).

(d) Changes in the system of quality management; (Ref: Para. A145)	A141. The nature, timing and extent of the monitoring activities may also be affected by other matters, including:
(e) The results of previous monitoring activities, whether previous monitoring activities continue to be relevant in evaluating the firm's system of quality management and whether remedial actions to address previously identified deficiencies were effective; and (Ref: Para. A146–A147)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The size, structure and organization of the firm. • The involvement of the firm's network in monitoring activities. • The resources that the firm intends to use to enable monitoring activities, such as the use of IT applications. A142. The firm exercises professional judgment in determining whether findings, individually or in combination with other findings give rise to a deficiency in the system of quality management. In some circumstances, the firm may determine it appropriate to obtain more information about the findings in order to determine whether a deficiency exists. Not all findings, including engagement findings, will be a deficiency.

A159. Examples of quantitative and qualitative factors that a firm may consider in determining whether findings give rise to a deficiency

Quality ~~R~~isks and ~~r~~esponses

- If the findings relate to a response:
 - How the response is designed, for example, the nature of the response, the frequency of its occurrence (if applicable), and the relative importance of the response to addressing the quality risk(s) and achieving the quality objective(s) to which it relates.
 - The nature of the quality risk to which the response relates, and the extent to which the findings indicate that the quality risk has not been addressed.
 - Whether there are other responses that address the same quality risk and whether there are findings for those responses.

Nature of the ~~F~~indings and ~~t~~heir ~~P~~ervasiveness

- The nature of the findings. For example, findings related to leadership actions and behaviors may be qualitatively significant, given the pervasive effect this could have on the system of quality management as a whole.
- Whether the findings, in combination with other findings, indicate a trend or systemic issue. For example, similar engagement findings that appear on multiple engagements may indicate a systemic issue.

Extent of ~~M~~onitoring ~~a~~ctivity and ~~E~~xtent of ~~F~~indings

- The extent of the monitoring activity from which the findings arose, including the number or size of the selections ~~relative to the entire population.~~

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The extent of the findings in relation to the selection covered by the monitoring activity, and in relation to the expected deviation rate. For example, in the case of inspection of engagements, the number of engagements selected where the findings were identified, relative to the total number of engagements selected, and the expected deviation rate set by the firm. A160. Evaluating findings and identifying deficiencies and evaluating the severity and pervasiveness of an identified deficiency, including investigating the root cause(s) of an identified deficiency, are part of an iterative and non-linear process.  Examples of how the process of evaluating findings and identifying deficiencies, evaluating identified deficiencies, including investigating the root cause(s) of identified deficiencies, is iterative and non-linear <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • In investigating the root cause(s) of an identified deficiency, the firm may identify a circumstance that has similarities to other circumstances where there were findings that were not considered a deficiency. As a result, the firm adjusts its evaluation of the other findings and also classifies them as deficiencies.  A161. The results of monitoring activities, results of external inspections and other relevant information (e.g., network monitoring activities or complaints and allegations) may reveal information about the effectiveness of the monitoring and remediation process. For example, the results of external inspections may provide information about the system of quality management that has not been identified by the firm’s monitoring and remediation process, which may highlight a deficiency in that process.
Evaluating Identified Deficiencies	Evaluating Identified Deficiencies (Ref: Para. 41)

41. The firm shall evaluate the severity and pervasiveness of identified deficiencies by: (Ref: Para. A160, A162–A163) (a) Investigating the root cause(s) of the identified deficiencies. Factors the firm may consider in evaluating the severity and pervasiveness of an identified deficiency include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The nature of the identified deficiency, including the aspect of the firm’s system of quality management to which the deficiency relates, and whether the deficiency is in the design, implementation or operation of the system of quality management; • In the case of identified deficiencies related to responses, whether there are compensating responses to address the quality risk to which the response relates; • The root cause(s) of the identified deficiency; • The frequency with which the matter giving rise to the identified deficiency occurred; and • The magnitude of the identified deficiency, how quickly it occurred and the duration of time that it existed and had an effect on the system of quality management. A163. The severity and pervasiveness of identified deficiencies affects the evaluation of the system of quality management that is undertaken by the individual(s) assigned ultimate responsibility and accountability for the system of quality management. Root Cause of the Identified Deficiencies (Ref: Para. 41(a)) A164. The objective of investigating the root cause(s) of identified deficiencies is to understand the underlying circumstances that caused the deficiencies to enable the firm to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Evaluate the severity and pervasiveness of the identified deficiency; and • Appropriately remediate the identified deficiency. Performing a root cause analysis involves those performing the assessment exercising professional judgment based on the evidence available. A165. The nature, timing and extent of the procedures undertaken to understand the root cause(s) of an identified deficiency may also be affected by the nature and circumstances of the firm, such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The complexity and operating characteristics of the firm. • The size of the firm.

- The geographical dispersion of the firm.
- How the firm is structured or the extent to which the firm concentrates or centralizes its processes or activities.

Examples of how the nature of identified deficiencies and their possible severity and the nature and circumstances of the firm may affect the nature, timing and extent of the procedures to understand the root cause(s) of the identified deficiencies

- The nature of the identified deficiency: The firm's procedures to understand the root cause(s) of an identified deficiency may be more rigorous in circumstances when an engagement report related to an audit of financial statements of a listed entity was issued that was inappropriate or the identified deficiency relates to leadership's actions and behaviors regarding quality.
- The possible severity of the identified deficiency: The firm's procedures to understand the root cause(s) of an identified deficiency may be more rigorous in circumstances when the deficiency has been identified across multiple engagements or there is an indication that policies or procedures have high rates of non-compliance.
- Nature and circumstances of the firm:
 - In the case of a less complex firm with a single location, the firm's procedures to understand the root cause(s) of an identified deficiency may be simple, since the information to inform the understanding may be readily available and concentrated, and the root cause(s) may be more apparent.
 - In the case of a more complex firm with multiple locations, the procedures to understand the root cause(s) of an identified deficiency may include using individuals specifically trained on investigating the root cause(s) of identified deficiencies, and developing a methodology with more formalized procedures for identifying root cause(s).

A166. In investigating the root cause(s) of identified deficiencies, the firm may consider why deficiencies did not arise in other circumstances that are of a similar nature to the matter to which the identified

	deficiency relates. Such information may also be useful in determining how to remediate an identified deficiency.  Example of when a deficiency did not arise in other circumstances of a similar nature, and how this information assists the firm in investigating the root cause(s) of identified deficiencies The firm may determine that a deficiency exists because similar findings have occurred across multiple engagements. However, the findings have not occurred in several other engagements within the same population being tested. By contrasting the engagements, the firm concludes that the root cause of the identified deficiency is a lack of appropriate involvement by the engagement partners at key stages of the engagements.  A167. Identifying a root cause(s) that is appropriately specific may support the firm’s process for remediating identified deficiencies.  Example of identifying a root cause(s) that is appropriately specific The firm may identify that engagement teams performing audits of financial statements are failing to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence on accounting estimates where management’s assumptions have a high degree of subjectivity. While the firm notes that these engagement teams are not exercising appropriate professional skepticism, the underlying root cause of this issue may relate to another matter, such as a cultural environment that does not encourage engagement team members to question individuals with greater authority or insufficient direction, supervision and review of the work performed on the engagements.  A168. In addition to investigating the root cause(s) of identified deficiencies, the firm may also investigate the root cause(s) of positive outcomes as doing so may reveal opportunities for the firm to improve, or further enhance, the system of quality management.
Responding to Identified Deficiencies 42. The firm shall design and implement remedial actions to address identified deficiencies that are responsive to the results	Responding to Identified Deficiencies (Ref: Para. 42) A169. The nature, timing and extent of remedial actions may depend on a variety of other factors, including: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The root cause(s).

of the root cause analysis. (Ref: Para. A169–A171)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The severity and pervasiveness of the identified deficiency and therefore the urgency with which it needs to be addressed. • The effectiveness of the remedial actions in addressing the root cause(s), such as whether the firm needs to implement more than one remedial action in order to effectively address the root cause(s), or needs to implement remedial actions as interim measures until the firm is able to implement more effective remedial actions. A170. In some circumstances, the remedial action may include establishing additional quality objectives, or quality risks or responses may be added or modified, because it is determined that they are not appropriate. A171. In circumstances when the firm determines that the root cause of an identified deficiency relates to a resource provided by a service provider, the firm may also: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Consider whether to continue using the resource provided by the service provider. • Communicate the matter to the service provider. The firm is responsible for addressing the effect of the identified deficiency related to a resource provided by a service provider on the system of quality management and taking action to prevent the deficiency from reoccurring with respect to the firm’s system of quality management. However, the firm is not ordinarily responsible for remediating the identified deficiency on behalf of the service provider or further investigating the root cause of the identified deficiency at the service provider.
43. The individual(s) assigned operational responsibility for the monitoring and remediation process shall evaluate whether the remedial actions: (a) Are appropriately designed to address the identified deficiencies and their related root cause(s) and

determine that they have been implemented; and (b) Implemented to address previously identified deficiencies are effective.
44. If the evaluation indicates that the remedial actions are not appropriately designed and implemented or are not effective, the individual(s) assigned operational responsibility for the monitoring and remediation process shall take appropriate action to determine that the remedial actions are appropriately modified such that they are effective.
Findings About a Particular Engagement 45. The firm shall respond to circumstances when findings indicate that there is an engagement(s) for which procedures required were omitted during the performance of the engagement(s) or the report issued may be inappropriate. The firm's response shall include: (Ref: Para. A172)	Findings About a Particular Engagement (Ref: Para. 45) A172. Evaluating the System of Quality Management	Evaluating the System of Quality Management (Ref: Para. 53)
53. The individual(s) assigned ultimate responsibility and accountability for the system of quality management shall evaluate, on behalf of the firm, the system of quality management. The evaluation shall be undertaken as of a point in time, and performed at least annually. (Ref: Para. A186–A188)	A186. The individual(s) assigned ultimate responsibility and accountability for the system of quality management may be assisted by assign other individuals to assist in performing aspects of the evaluation. Nevertheless, the individual(s) assigned ultimate responsibility and accountability for the system of quality management remains responsible and accountable for the evaluation. A187. The point in time at which the evaluation is undertaken may depend on the circumstances of the firm, and may coincide with the fiscal year end of the firm or the completion of an annual monitoring cycle. A188. The information that provides the basis for the evaluation of the system of quality management includes the information communicated to the individual(s) assigned ultimate responsibility and accountability for the system of quality management in accordance with paragraph 46.

	A188. Scalability examples to demonstrate how the information that provides the basis for the evaluation of the system of quality management may be obtained <ul style="list-style-type: none"> In a less complex firm, the individual(s) assigned ultimate responsibility and accountability for the system of quality management may be directly involved in the monitoring and remediation and will therefore be aware of the information that supports the evaluation of the system of quality management. In a more complex firm, the individual(s) assigned ultimate responsibility and accountability for the system of quality management may need to establish processes to collate, summarize and communicate the information needed to evaluate the system of quality management.
54. Based on the evaluation, the individual(s) assigned ultimate responsibility and accountability for the system of quality management shall conclude, on behalf of the firm, one of the following: (Ref: Para. A189, A194) (a) The system of quality management provides the firm with reasonable assurance that the objectives of the system of quality management are being achieved; (Ref: Para. In the context of this ISQM, it is intended that the operation of the system as a whole provides the firm with reasonable assurance that the objectives of the system of quality management are being achieved. In evaluating and concluding on the system of quality management, the individual(s) assigned ultimate responsibility and accountability for the system of quality management may, in using the results of the monitoring and remediation process, to consider the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> The severity and pervasiveness of identified deficiencies, and the effect on the achievement of the objectives of the system of quality management; Whether remedial actions have been designed and implemented by the firm, and whether the remedial actions taken up to the time of the evaluation are effective; and Whether the effect of identified deficiencies on the system of quality management have been appropriately corrected, such as whether further actions have been taken in accordance with paragraph 45. A190. There may be circumstances when identified deficiencies that are severe (including identified deficiencies that are severe and pervasive) have been appropriately remediated and the effect of them corrected at the point in time of the evaluation. In such cases, the individual(s) assigned ultimate responsibility and accountability for the system of quality management may conclude that the system

pervasive effect on the design, implementation and operation of the system of quality management, the system of quality management provides the firm with reasonable assurance that the objectives of the system of quality management are being achieved; or (Ref: Para. A191) (c) The system of quality management does not provide the firm with reasonable assurance that the objectives of the system of quality management are being achieved. (Ref: Para. A191–A193)	of quality management provides the firm with reasonable assurance that the objectives of the system of quality management are being achieved. A191. An identified deficiency may have a pervasive effect on the design, implementation and operation of the system of quality management when, for example: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The deficiency affects several components or aspects of the system of quality management. • The deficiency is confined to a specific component or aspect of the system of quality management, but is fundamental to the system of quality management. • The deficiency affects several business units or geographical locations of the firm. • The deficiency is confined to a business unit or geographical location, but the business unit or location affected is fundamental to the firm overall. • The deficiency affects a substantial portion of engagements that are of a certain type or nature.  Example of an identified deficiency that may be considered severe but not pervasive The firm identifies a deficiency in a smaller regional office of the firm. The identified deficiency relates to non-compliance with many firm policies or procedures. The firm determines that the culture in the regional office, particularly the actions and behavior of leadership in the regional office which were overly focused on financial priorities, has contributed to the root cause of the identified deficiency. The firm determines that the effect of the identified deficiency is: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Severe, because it relates to the culture of the regional office and overall compliance with firm policies or procedures; and • Not pervasive, because it is limited to the smaller regional office.  A192. The individual(s) assigned ultimate responsibility and accountability for the system of quality management may conclude that the system of quality management does not provide the firm with reasonable assurance that the objectives of the system of quality management are being achieved in circumstances when identified deficiencies are severe and pervasive, actions taken to remediate the identified deficiencies are not appropriate, and the effect of the identified deficiencies have not been appropriately corrected.

	Example of an identified deficiency that may be considered severe and pervasive The firm identifies a deficiency in a regional office, which is the largest office of the firm and provides financial, operational and technical support for the entire region. The identified deficiency relates to non-compliance with many firm policies or procedures. The firm determines that the culture in the regional office, particularly the actions and behavior of leadership in the regional office which were overly focused on financial priorities, has contributed to the root cause of the identified deficiency. The firm determines that the effect of the identified deficiency is: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Severe, because it relates to the culture of the regional office and overall compliance with firm policies or procedures; and • Pervasive, because the regional office is the largest office and provides support to many other offices, and the non-compliance with firm policies or procedures may have had a broader effect on the other offices. A193. It may take time for the firm to remediate identified deficiencies that are severe and pervasive. As the firm continues to take action to remediate the identified deficiencies, the pervasiveness of the identified deficiencies may be diminished and it may be determined that the identified deficiencies are still severe, but no longer severe and pervasive. In such cases, the individual(s) assigned ultimate responsibility and accountability for the system of quality management may conclude that, except for matters related to identified deficiencies that have a severe but not pervasive effect on the design, implementation and operation of the system of quality management, the system of quality management provides the firm with reasonable assurance that the objectives of the system of quality management are being achieved. A194. This ISQM does not require the firm to obtain an independent assurance report on its system of quality management, or preclude the firm from doing so.
55. If the individual(s) assigned ultimate responsibility and accountability for the system of quality management reaches the conclusion described in	Circumstances When Taking Prompt and Appropriate Action is Taken and Further Communication (Ref: Para. 55) A195. In circumstances when the individual(s) assigned ultimate responsibility and accountability for the system of quality management reaches the conclusion described in paragraph 54(b) or 54(c), the prompt and appropriate action taken by the firm may include:

paragraph 54(b) or 54(c), the firm shall: (Ref: Para. A195) (a) Take prompt and appropriate action; and (b) Communicate to: (i) Engagement teams and other individuals assigned activities within the system of quality management to the extent that it is relevant to their responsibilities; and (Ref: Para. A197)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Taking measures to support the performance of engagements through assigning more resources or developing more guidance and to confirm that reports issued by the firm are appropriate in the circumstances, until such time as the identified deficiencies are remediated, and communicating such measures to engagement teams. • Obtaining legal advice. A196. In some circumstances the firm may have an independent governing body that has non-executive oversight of the firm. In such circumstances, communications may include informing the independent governing body. A197. Examples of circumstances when it may be appropriate for the firm to communicate to external parties about the evaluation of the system of quality management <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • When the firm belongs to a network. • When other network firms use the work performed by the firm, for example, in the case of a group audit. • When a report issued by the firm is determined by the firm to be inappropriate as a result of the failure of the system of quality management, and management or those charged with governance of the entity need to be informed. • When law or regulation requires the firm to communicate to an oversight authority or a regulatory body.
56. The firm shall undertake periodic performance evaluations of the individual(s) assigned ultimate responsibility and accountability for the system of quality management, and the individual(s) assigned operational responsibility for the system of quality management	Performance Evaluations (Ref: Para. 56) A198. Periodic performance evaluations promote accountability. In considering the performance of an individual, the firm may take into account: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The results of the firm's monitoring activities for aspects of the system of quality management that relate to the responsibility of the individual. In some circumstances, the firm may set targets for the individual and measure the results of the firm's monitoring activities against those targets.

In a more complex firm, the performance evaluations may be undertaken by an independent non-executive member of the firm’s governing body, or a special committee overseen by the firm’s governing body.  A199. A positive performance evaluation may be rewarded through compensation, promotion and other incentives that focus on the individual’s commitment to quality, and reinforce accountability. On the other hand, the firm may take corrective actions to address a negative performance evaluation that may affect the firm’s achievement of its quality objectives. Public Sector Considerations A200. In the case of the public sector, it may not be practicable to perform a performance evaluation of the individual(s) assigned ultimate responsibility and accountability for the system of quality management, or to take actions to address the results of the performance evaluation, given the nature of the individual’s appointment. Nevertheless, performance evaluations may still be undertaken for other individuals in the firm who are assigned operational responsibility for aspects of the system of quality management.
Documentation	Documentation (Ref: Para. 57–59)
57. The firm shall prepare documentation of its system of quality management that is sufficient to: (Ref: Para. A201–A203)	A201. Furthermore, compliance with this ISQM may be evidenced by the firm through its information and communication component, documents or other written materials, or IT applications that are integral to the components of the system of quality management. A202. Documentation may take the form of formal written manuals, checklists and forms, may be informally documented (e.g., e-mail communication or postings on websites), or may be held in IT applications or other digital forms (e.g., in databases). Factors that may affect the firm's judgments about the form, content and extent of documentation, including how often documentation is updated, may include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The complexity of the firm and the number of offices; • The nature and complexity of the firm's practice and organization; • The nature of engagements the firm performs and the nature of the entities for whom engagements are performed; • The nature and complexity of the matter being documented, such as whether it relates to an aspect of the system of quality management that has changed or an area of greater quality risk, and the complexity of the judgments relating to the matter; and • The frequency and extent of changes in the system of quality management. In a less complex firm, it may not be necessary to have documentation supporting matters communicated because informal communication methods may be effective. Nevertheless, at the less complex firm may determine it appropriate to document such communications in order to provide evidence that they occurred. A203. In some instances, an external oversight authority may establish documentation requirements, either formally or informally, for example, as a result of the outcome of external inspection findings. Relevant ethical requirements may also include specific requirements addressing documentation, for example, the IESBA Code requires documentation of particular matters, including certain situations related to conflicts of interest, non-compliance with laws and regulations and independence.
