Section 1 Introduction

IFAC is the global organization for the accountancy profession. Founded in 1977, it is comprised of more than 167 accountancy organizations in approximately 127 countries and jurisdictions. These accountancy organizations represent 2.5 million accountants in commerce and industry, education, the not-for-profit sector, public practice, and the public sector.

Strategic Plan for 2013-2016

The Strategic Plan for 2013-2016 is designed to allow IFAC to lead the way and strengthen its current initiatives. An important part of the plan will be to analyze the current funding model and create a stronger, more diversified, and sustainable funding model.

The aim of the 2013-2016 strategy is to ensure that IFAC will be:

- Supporting independent standard-setting boards that are resourced to be proactive and respond to issues in a timely manner
- An organization that is able to demonstrate measurable success in the level of adoption and implementation of international standards
- A key contributor to improved transparency and accountability in public sector accounting
- A representative voice of the profession that speaks out on global matters and in the public interest and that issues strong, relevant policy positions
- A significant contributor to the advancement and direction of integrated reporting
- An organization that takes an inclusive approach and supports its members in addressing the needs of professional accountants in business (PAIBs), small- and mid-sized entities (SMEs) and small and medium practices (SMPs), and works to build capacity and support the accountancy profession in developing and transitional economies
- An organization with a strong and sustainable funding model

The Operational Plan details the services planned to be delivered during 2013, the estimated costs for delivery of those services, the specific organizational and staffing matters to be addressed during 2013, and the 2013 budget to support the operations.

IFAC employs a two-year planning cycle that alternates emphasis on strategy development and implementation. This allows the Board, through the work of the Planning and Finance Committee (PFC), to monitor the activities and services that support IFAC's mission and strategies, while responding to the environment in which the organization operates.

Section 2 Link to the Strategic Plan

The Strategic Plan for 2013-2016 reaffirms the organization's vision, mission and values and identifies the outcomes the organization strives to influence. These outcomes, while not entirely within the control of IFAC or the accountancy profession, are the results IFAC seeks to influence on a broad scale. They also help define the strategies of the organization.

Four service areas have been defined in support of IFAC's mission and values. They are:

- Standards and Guidance
- Adoption and Implementation
- Development and Quality
- Speaking Out

Section 3 Service Areas

The four service areas and a description of each are provided below, followed by a detailed description of the services planned under each service area. These services are delivered to external audiences, which may include member bodies, accounting firms (including small and medium practices), regulators, governments, professional accountants, academia and others. They do not reflect internal activities or services that support the delivery of IFAC's services to external parties.

Other organizations also contribute to the outcomes outlined in the strategic plan. IFAC's role may therefore vary between leader, facilitator and collaborator, as appropriate, in working with these organizations. The strategic and operational plans cover all three roles. The increased demand for a global response to public interest issues, including the development, adoption and implementation of high-quality standards, will require that IFAC seek the creation of a stronger, more diversified, and sustainable funding model.

Standards and Guidance – Contributing to the development of high-quality standards and guidance

The standards are developed by the International Auditing and Assurance Standards Board (IAASB), International Ethics Standards Board for Accountants (IESBA), and International Accounting Education Standards Board (IAESB), under the oversight of the Public Interest Oversight Board (PIOB), and by the International Public Sector Accounting Standards Board (IPSASB). Information about the standard-setting boards and their strategies, services and priorities can be found in their strategic and operational plans.

Adoption and Implementation – Facilitating the adoption and implementation of high-quality standards and guidance

Adoption is concerned with the decision that international standards are appropriate for use in specific national financial reporting environments and with the actions necessary to effect those decisions, including incorporation into national requirements or requiring the use of international standards through law. Adoption may include a process to review draft international standards, translation, public exposure of proposed standards, approval, incorporation into national requirements as necessary, and promulgation of final standards, and, where applicable, a convergence process to eliminate or minimize differences between international and national standards. The primary target audience is institutions such as national standard setters, governments, members, recognized regional organizations, regulators, donor agencies, and accounting firms – especially in jurisdictions that have not yet adopted international standards or where the accountancy profession is less developed.

Adoption support comprises two main elements: (a) the translation of international standards through a facilitated process that emphasizes the need for high-quality translations; and (b) the provision of institutional adoption resources targeted to the needs of the recipient. IFAC recognizes that the central responsibility for adoption rests at a national or regional level, and that IFAC's role is to support adoption through provision of advice, facilitation, the sharing of knowledge and best practices and, where necessary, the development of guidance.

Implementation may include a process to build awareness of the adopted standards, provide relevant education and training, develop or disseminate implementation guidance, and any other activities that promote proper understanding and use of the standards in practice. The primary target audience is the same as for adoption, i.e., institutions, such as national standard setters, governments, members and associates, recognized regional organizations, regulators, donor agencies, accounting firms, etc. The objective is to enhance their capacity to ensure consistent and effective implementation of international standards by their members or constituencies.

Implementation support is demonstrated by four different activities:

- Availability—actions to make the standards and guidance available to the primary target audience
- Accessibility—actions taken to make the standards and guidance accessible in languages other than English
- Application support—actions to support the primary target audience in their role in assisting end users in applying the standards and guidance on a daily basis
- Training and education material—actions to support organizations providing continuing professional development or to support academic institutions

Development and Quality – Contributing to the development of strong professional accountancy organizations and accounting firms and to high-quality practices by professional accountants, and promoting the value of professional accountants worldwide

IFAC promotes the provision of high-quality services by all members of the profession through the implementation of a Member Body Compliance program, initiatives aimed at improving the quality of auditing, and initiatives aimed at enhancing the competence and relevance of professional accountants. It also promotes initiatives to address the challenges facing the development of strong professional accountancy organizations and to develop the capacity of the accountancy profession. These capacity-building initiatives are critical to the public interest as they address the current shortage of accountants in emerging and developing nations.

IFAC develops or facilitates the development of international good practice guidance for PAIBs. The guidance focuses on international and strategic issues of importance to professional accountants in areas such as governance and ethics, risk management and internal control, and sustainability and corporate responsibility.

IFAC also develops or facilitates the development of practical guidance for SMPs. Currently, this guidance focuses on applying International Standards on Auditing (ISAs), quality control, and practice management.

Speaking Out – Speaking out on public interest issues

IFAC is the primary representative of the global accountancy profession and speaks out on a wide range of public interest issues where the profession's expertise is most relevant. IFAC accomplishes this through:

- Commenting on issues that directly relate to the accountancy profession
- Developing and maintaining relationships with other organizations as appropriate
- Participating in global, regional and national forums
- Developing policy positions that address issues relevant to the global accountancy profession

IFAC collaborates with its members, associates, and affiliates to leverage their combined expertise in speaking out on issues affecting the accountancy profession and the public it serves.

2013 Service Delivery Plan

The descriptions and delivery methods included below reflect the nature and scope of the planned services, and how IFAC will achieve their delivery. The timeframe shows the best estimate of document publication or other activity dates. The committees and independent standard-setting boards undertake their work using an established due process, including consultation with interested parties. The timeframes for completion of projects are subject to change depending on input received throughout a project's development. They may also be adjusted to reflect changes in priorities due to unforeseen circumstances or for other reasons.

This includes (a) development and maintenance of its capabilities (human, knowledge, physical, and financial) on a continuous basis, (b) control and enhancement of financial performance, (c) implementation of a sound policy and process infrastructure, and (d) an integrated approach to managing risks.

Management recognizes the need to define the structure of the staff so as to provide clear leadership, appropriate levels of time and expertise, and economical allocation of both. On January 1, 2013, it is expected that IFAC will have 72 full-time employees, two part-time employees, and one secondee. (The IT function, other than the webmaster/programmer, will be outsourced.) Two positions have been deferred as part of cost-saving initiatives. These positions will be reconsidered and new positions identified additional funding becomes available

The staff structure as at September 2012 is included in the appendix.

Section 5      Budget Introduction

During the planning period preceding the development of the Strategic Plan for 2013-2016, IFAC (a) conducted extensive external and internal consultations, (b) carefully considered the pressures on the organization, and (c) monitored the environment and global expectations on the organization's future. These factors led to the development of a strategic plan which includes a number of enhanced and new services, as well as an increase in the level of activity in many of the existing services. Many of the activities which were deferred in recognition of the impact of the global financial crisis have been brought forward into this strategic plan period.

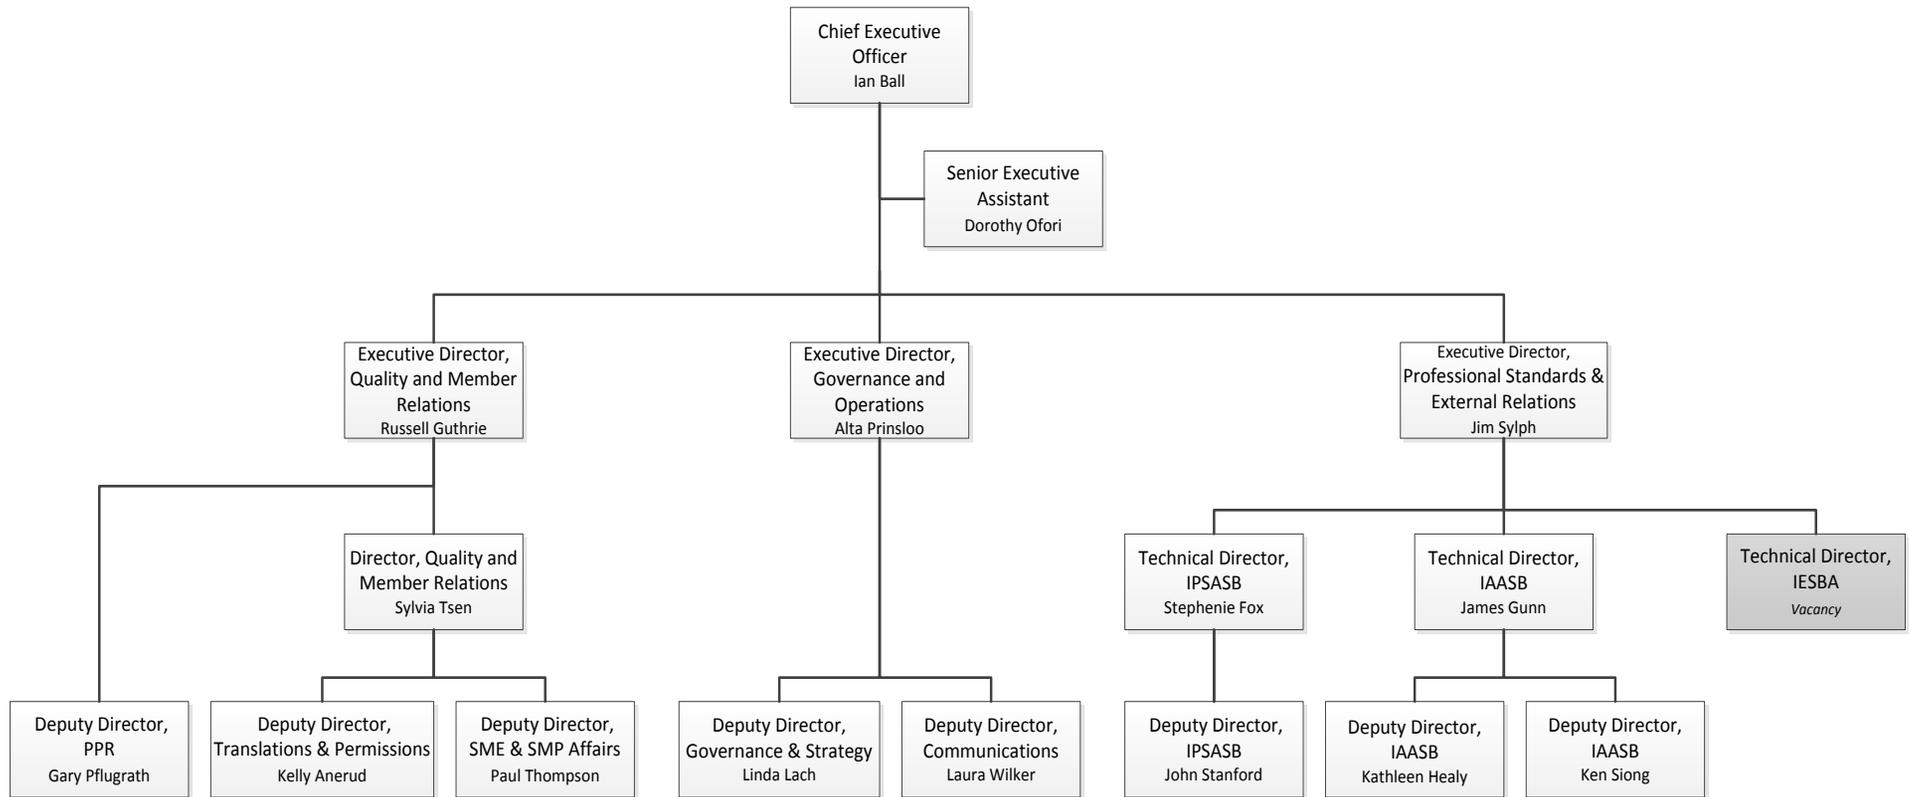

Management has developed detailed activity work plans and budgets for 2013. While the budgets for 2013 have been determined from a zero base, the expense increases generally relate to one of the following four categories: expenses associated with existing commitments; expenses associated with enhanced or new activities; the need to invest in organization capacity (human and physical assets); and cost increases (including the impact of currency fluctuations).

In developing the detailed activity work plans and budgets, management's aim was to deliver on the key commitments made in the Strategic Plan for 2013-2016, while respecting the state of economic recovery. To this end, the total expense budget increase for 2013 has been kept to a minimum. The total expense budget increases by 4.7% over the budget for 2012.

The increases in members' and the Forum of Firms' contributions are 6.4% and 5.0% respectively in 2013.
