REQUEST FOR INFORMATION: COMPREHENSIVE REVIEW OF THE IFRS FOR SMEs

Dear Sir/Madam:

The International Federation of Accountants (IFAC) values the opportunity to participate in the International Accounting Standards Board (IASB)'s post-implementation review of its IFRS for Small- and Medium-Sized Entities (SMEs) standard by responding to the Request for Information (RFI) Comprehensive Review of the IFRS for SMEs. Rather than responding directly to technical questions, we have sought to stress some key principles. Our Small and Medium Practices (SMP) Committee, which represents the interests of SMPs globally, many of whom prepare the financial statements of SMEs, played a central role in the development of the response.

Through its membership, currently 173 professional accountancy organizations in 129 countries and jurisdictions, IFAC represents approximately 2.5 million accountants in public practice, industry and commerce, government, and education. As the global organization for the accountancy profession, IFAC is committed to contributing to the highest-quality professional services by the accountancy profession around the world. IFAC, through the independent standard-setting boards that it supports and in conjunction with the international regulatory community, sets international auditing and assurance, ethics, education, and public sector accounting standards. IFAC also issues guidance to encourage high-quality performance by professional accountants in business.

General Comments

The introduction of the IFRS for SMEs was an important step on the road to global convergence of financial reporting by SMEs. IFAC, along with many of our member bodies, closely monitored and participated in its development, promoted its adoption, and helped facilitate its implementation. The recently revised Statement of Membership Obligation (SMO) 7 - International Financial Reporting Standards and Other Pronouncements Issued by the IASB clarifies that the requirement for use of full IFRSs relates only to public interest entities and encourages the use of IFRS for SMEs as a possible standard for non-public interest entities.

In responding to this consultation, we wish to draw your attention to recent developments at IFAC. In September this year, IFAC issued Policy Position Paper (PPP) #6, Global Regulatory Convergence and the Accountancy Profession, which summarizes IFAC's position with respect to its support for global regulatory convergence and, in particular, the consistent adoption and implementation of globally accepted, high-quality international standards used in the preparation and presentation of financial information for capital and debt markets (private and public sector debt).

We would also like to share with you some findings from the IFAC SMP Quick Poll, which is designed to take a snapshot of key challenges and trends influencing SMPs globally. The most recent poll, which was conducted in 15 languages from May 7 to June 14, 2012, and elicited 3,678 responses from around the world, revealed the following of relevance to the RFI.

- The largest portion of SMPs indicated that burden of regulation poses the biggest challenge for their SME clients.
- The aspect of regulation that presents the greatest challenge for the majority of SME clients is complexity, with pace of change and associated costs a close second and third place, respectively.
- The type of regulation that poses the greatest challenge for the majority of SME clients is taxation, with financial reporting in third place (of the nine types ranked).

These poll findings provide support for our view that the IASB should avoid increasing the complexity of the IFRS for SMEs and changing the requirements of the standard too frequently.

IFAC considers it important that the standard is as standalone as possible, so as to ensure its simplicity, to facilitate a focus on the information needs of SMEs and their stakeholders, and to reinforce its status as a separate reporting standard from full IFRSs. The inclusion of options in the standard provides flexibility and potentially makes it easier for national jurisdictions to adopt and implement the standard. However, options and/or cross-references to provisions in full IFRSs tend to reduce the comparability of SME financial reporting and/or potentially increase the complexity of the standard. The IASB may wish to consider whether, over time, options may be eliminated based on appropriate consideration of feedback and analysis of the adoption and implementation practices of jurisdictions, and where a clearly preferred approach can be identified.

We would also encourage the IASB to carefully consider further ways in which the standard might be simplified further so as to reduce compliance costs, especially for micro-sized entities, and how it might be changed so as to increase the benefits of the information it provides users. IFAC welcomes the announcement that the staff of the IASB will develop guidance to help micro-sized entities apply the IFRS for SMEs. The vast majority of SMEs are, in fact, micro sized and some have expressed concern regarding the applicability of the standard. While not a substitute for further simplification of the standard, this guidance should help address these concerns, which were also highlighted in a previous edition of the SMP Quick Poll—that micro-entity financial reporting is one of the top issues facing the global accountancy profession in 2012.

Finally, IFAC recognizes the importance of standard setting in the public interest.[1] In the recently issued PPP #5, A Definition of the Public Interest, IFAC outlines two assessments—of costs and benefits and of process—for determining if actions, decisions, or policies are in the public interest. Costs and benefits should be assessed when considering revisions to the IFRS for SMEs standard. With respect to the assessment of process, we note that IASB's development and maintenance of the IFRS for SMEs appears to have been undertaken with appropriate regard to the qualities of transparency, public accountability, independence, competence, due process, and inclusive participation.

S1	Use by publicly traded entities (Section 1) The IFRS for SMEs currently prohibits an entity whose debt or equity instruments are traded in a public market from using the IFRS for SMEs (paragraph 1.3(a)). The IASB concluded that all entities that choose to enter a public securities market become publicly accountable and, therefore, should use full IFRSs. Some interested parties believe that governments and regulatory authorities in each individual jurisdiction should decide whether some publicly traded entities should be eligible to use the IFRS for SMEs on the basis of their assessment of the public interest, the needs of investors in their jurisdiction and the capabilities of those publicly traded companies to	(c)	IFAC recognizes that jurisdictions, national and regional, normally determine the financial reporting requirements for entities within their jurisdiction. Accordingly, establishing prohibitions, eligibilities, or permissions pertaining to the use of IFRS for SMEs by various sizes and types of entities (e.g., publicly traded, financial institutions, not-for-profits) is not the most effective means by which to encourage global adoption and implementation of international standards while recognizing that jurisdictional considerations vary across the globe.

Continue to prohibit an entity whose debt or equity instruments trade in a public market from using the IFRS for SMEs. (b) Yes—revise the scope of the IFRS for SMEs to permit each jurisdiction to decide whether entities whose debt or equity instruments are traded in a public market should be permitted or required to use the IFRS for SMEs. (c) Other—please explain. Please provide reasoning to support your choice (a), (b) or (c).		IFAC is of the view that a more effective approach would entail the IASB providing a general description of the entities for which IFRS for SMEs are written, and outlining a range of "matters to consider" (e.g., the need to use the complete IFRS for SMEs when prescribing their use, the key stakeholders impacted by entities' activities and their information needs, the objective of SME financial statements) for jurisdictions in determining whether—and for what entities—to adopt and implement IFRS for SMEs. In addition, the IASB should consider clarifying the definition of "public accountability" by incorporating the interpretation of "traded in a public market" contained in IASB's SME Implementation Group Q&A 2011/03 in the standard to facilitate judgment by the stakeholders. In support of global regulatory convergence, IFAC is of the view that high-quality international standards should be adopted and implemented globally. In this regard, through its Statements of Membership Obligations (SMOs), IFAC requires its member bodies to identify and undertake actions to have IFRSs adopted and implemented for at least public interest entities (PIEs). IFAC also encourages consideration of the use of IFRS for SMEs in relation to non-public interest entities. The term "public interest entities" is defined in the International Ethics Standards Board for Accountants Code of Ethics for Professional Accountants for the purposes of determining independence requirements for audit and assurance engagements.

S2	Use by financial institutions (Section 1) The IFRS for SMEs currently prohibits financial institutions and other entities that hold assets for a broad group of outsiders as one of their primary businesses from using the IFRS for SMEs (paragraph 1.3(b)). The IASB concluded that standing ready to take and hold funds from a broad group of outsiders makes those entities publicly accountable and, therefore, they should use full IFRSs. In every jurisdiction financial institutions are subject to regulation. In some jurisdictions, financial institutions such as credit unions and micro banks are very small. Some believe that governments and	(c)	Please refer to our response to S1.

S3	Clarification of use by not-for-profit entities (Section 1) The IFRS for SMEs is silent on whether not-for-profit (NFP) entities (eg charities) are eligible to use the IFRS for SMEs. Some interested parties have asked whether soliciting and accepting contributions would automatically make an NFP entity publicly accountable. The IFRS for SMEs specifically identifies only two types of entities that have public accountability and, therefore, are not eligible to use the IFRS for SMEs: • those that have issued debt or equity securities in public capital markets; and • those that hold assets for a broad group of outsiders as one of their primary businesses. Should the IFRS for SMEs be revised to clarify whether an NFP	(c)	Please refer to our response to S1. We note that the IFRS for SMEs does not specifically preclude not-for-profit entities (NFPs) from using IFRS for SMEs and that full IFRS is likely to be too burdensome for smaller NFPs.

	consistent with the current approach in full IFRSs. Recently, full IFRSs on this topic have been updated by IFRS 10 Consolidated Financial Statements, which replaced IAS 27 Consolidated and Separate Financial Statements (2008). IFRS 10 includes additional guidance on applying the control principle in a number of situations, with the intention of avoiding divergence in practice. The guidance will generally affect borderline cases where it is difficult to establish if an entity has control (ie, most straightforward parent-subsidiary relationships will not be affected). Additional guidance is provided in IFRS 10 for: • agency relationships, where one entity legally appoints another to act on its behalf. This guidance is particularly relevant to investment managers that make decisions on behalf of investors. Fund managers and entities that hold assets for a broad group of outsiders as a primary business are generally outside the scope of the IFRS for SMEs. • control with less than a majority of the voting rights, sometimes		options and/or cross-references to provisions in full IFRSs tends to reduce the comparability of SME financial reporting and/or to increase the complexity of the standard. The changes above will generally mean that more judgement needs to be applied in borderline cases and where more complex relationships exist. Should the changes outlined above be considered, but modified as appropriate to reflect the needs of users of SME financial statements and cost-benefit considerations? (a) No—do not change the current requirements. 	SMEs, the IASB lists its reasons for providing SMEs with the option to use IAS 39. This is the only time that the IFRS for SMEs specifically permits the use of full IFRSs. One of the main reasons for this option is that the IASB concluded that SMEs should be permitted to have the same accounting policy options as in IAS 39, pending completion of its comprehensive financial instruments project to replace IAS 39. That decision is explained in more detail in paragraph BC106. IAS 39 will be replaced by IFRS 9 Financial Instruments. Any amendments to the IFRS for SMEs from this comprehensive review would most probably be effective at a similar time to the effective date of IFRS 9. The IFRS for SMEs refers specifically to IAS 39. SMEs are not permitted to apply IFRS 9. How should the current option to use IAS 39 in the IFRS for SMEs be updated once IFRS 9 has become effective? (a) There should be no option to use the recognition and measurement provisions in either IAS 39 or IFRS 9. All SMEs must follow the		national jurisdictions to comply with the standard. Please provide reasoning to support your choice of (a), (b) or (c). Note: the purpose of this question is to assess your overall view on whether the fallback to full IFRSs in Sections 11 and 12 should be removed completely, should continue to refer to an IFRS that has been superseded, or should be updated to refer to a current IFRS. It does not ask respondents to consider whether any of the recognition and measurement principles of IFRS 9 should result in amendments of the IFRS for SMEs at this stage, because the IASB has several current agenda projects that are expected to result in changes to IFRS 9 (see paragraph 13 of the Introduction to this Request for Information).		change.

S6	Guidance on fair value measurement for financial and non-financial items (Section 11 and other sections) Paragraphs 11.27–11.32 of the IFRS for SMEs contain guidance on fair value measurement. Those paragraphs are written within the context of financial instruments. However, several other sections of the IFRS for SMEs make reference to them, for example, fair value model for associates and jointly controlled entities (Sections 14 and 15), investment property (Section 16) and fair value of pension plan assets (Section 28). In addition, several other sections refer to fair value although they do not specifically refer to the guidance in Section 11. There is some other guidance about fair value elsewhere in the IFRS for SMEs, for example, guidance on fair value less costs to sell in paragraph 27.14. Recently the guidance on fair value in full IFRSs has been consolidated and comprehensively updated by IFRS 13 Fair Value Measurement. Some of the main changes are:	(a)	As we state in our cover letter, the IASB should avoid increasing the complexity of the IFRS for SMEs and changing the requirements of the standard too frequently. 	• an emphasis that fair value is a market-based measurement (not an entity-specific measurement); • an amendment to the definition of fair value to focus on an exit price (fair value is defined in IFRS 13 as "the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date"); and • more specific guidance on determining fair value, including assessing the highest and best use of non-financial assets and identifying the principal market. The guidance on fair value in Section 11 is based on the guidance on fair value in IAS 39. The IAS 39 guidance on fair value has been replaced by IFRS 13. In straightforward cases, applying the IFRS 13 guidance on fair value would have no impact on the way fair value measurements are made		It is also important that the standard is as standalone as possible, so as to ensure its simplicity, to facilitate a focus on the information needs of SMEs and their stakeholders, and to reinforce its status as a separate reporting standard from full IFRSs. In this specific case, we suggest the current requirements are left unchanged pending the outcome of the post-implementation review of IFRS 13. However, if the new guidance was to be incorporated into the IFRS for SMEs, SMEs would need to re-evaluate their methods for determining fair value amounts to confirm that this is the case (particularly for non-financial assets) and use greater judgement in assessing what data market participants would use when pricing an asset or liability. Should the fair value guidance in Section 11 be expanded to reflect the principles in IFRS 13, modified as appropriate to reflect the needs of users of SME financial statements and the specific circumstances of SMEs (for example, it would take into account their often more limited access to markets, valuation expertise, and other cost-benefit considerations)? (a) No—do not change the current requirements. 	31 Interests in Joint Ventures. A key change resulting from IFRS 11 is to classify and account for a joint arrangement on the basis of the parties' rights and obligations under the arrangement. Previously under IAS 31, the structure of the arrangement was the main determinant of the accounting (ie establishment of a corporation, partnership or other entity was required to account for the arrangement as a jointly-controlled entity). In line with this, IFRS 11 changes the definitions and terminology and classifies arrangements as either joint operations or joint ventures. Section 15 is based on IAS 31 except that Section 15 (like IFRS 11) does not permit proportionate consolidation for joint ventures, which had been permitted by IAS 31. Like IAS 31, Section 15 classifies arrangements as jointly controlled operations, jointly controlled assets or jointly controlled entities. If the changes under IFRS 11 described above were adopted in Section 15, in most cases, jointly controlled assets and jointly controlled operations would become joint operations, and jointly controlled entities would become joint ventures. Consequently, there would be no change to		options and/or cross-reference to provisions in full IFRSs tends to reduce the comparability of SME financial reporting and/or to increase the complexity of the standard. However, it is possible that, as a result of the changes, an investment that previously met the definition of a jointly controlled entity would become a joint operation. This is because the existence of a separate legal vehicle is no longer the main factor in classification. Should the changes above to joint venture accounting in full IFRSs be reflected in the IFRS for SMEs, modified as appropriate to reflect the needs of users of SME financial statements and cost-benefit considerations? (a) No—do not change the current requirements. 	PPE was one of the complex accounting policy options in full IFRSs that the IASB eliminated in the interest of comparability and simplification of the IFRS for SMEs. In full IFRSs, IAS 16 Property, Plant and Equipment allows entities to choose a revaluation model, rather than the cost-depreciation-impairment model, for entire classes of PPE. In accordance with the revaluation model in IAS 16, after recognition as an asset, an item of PPE whose fair value can be measured reliably is carried at a revalued amount—its fair value at the date of the revaluation less any subsequent accumulated depreciation and subsequent accumulated impairment losses. Revaluation increases are recognised in other comprehensive income and are accumulated in equity under the heading of 'revaluation surplus' (unless an increase reverses a previous revaluation decrease recognised in profit or loss for the same asset). Revaluation decreases that are in excess of prior increases are recognised in profit or loss. Revaluations must be made with sufficient regularity to ensure that the carrying amount does not differ materially		IFRSs tends to reduce the comparability of SME financial reporting and/or to increase the complexity of the standard. The IASB reached that decision because many preparers and auditors of SME financial statements said that SMEs do not have the resources to assess whether a project is commercially viable on an ongoing basis. Bank lending officers told the IASB that information about capitalised development costs is of little benefit to them, and that they disregard those costs in making lending decisions. In full IFRSs, IAS 38 Intangible Assets requires that all research and some development costs must be charged to expense, but development costs incurred after the entity is able to demonstrate that the development has produced an asset with future economic benefits should be capitalised. IAS 38.57 lists certain criteria that must be met for this to be the case. Recently, the requirements in full IFRSs have been updated by the issue of IAS 19 Employee Benefits (revised 2011). A key change as a result of the 2011 revisions to IAS 19 is that all actuarial gains and losses must be recognised in other comprehensive income in the period in which they arise. Previously, under full IFRSs, actuarial gains and losses could be recognised either in other comprehensive income or in profit or loss as an accounting policy election (and under the latter option there were a number of permitted methods for the timing of the recognition in profit or loss). 	by the IFRS for SMEs. It is not asking which areas of the IFRS for SMEs require additional guidance. If you think more guidance should be added for a topic already covered by the IFRS for SMEs, please provide your comments in response to question S20.
S20	Opportunity to add your own specific issues Are there any additional issues that you would like to bring to the IASB's attention on specific requirements in the sections of the IFRS for SMEs? (a) No. (b) Yes (please state your issues, identify the section(s) to which they relate, provide references to paragraphs in the IFRS for SMEs where applicable and provide separate reasoning for each issue given).	(a)	We have no evidence to support the need to raise any additional issues. While some jurisdictions may be able to identify certain issues, we suspect that these will largely be unique to their jurisdiction.

Part B: General questions

G1	Consideration of minor improvements to full IFRSs The IFRS for SMEs was developed from full IFRSs but tailored for SMEs. As a result, the IFRS for SMEs uses identical wording to full IFRSs in many places. The IASB makes ongoing changes to full IFRSs as part of its Annual Improvements project as well as during other projects. Such amendments may clarify guidance and wording, modify definitions or make other relatively minor amendments to full IFRSs to address unintended consequences, conflicts or oversights. For more information, the IASB web pages on its Annual Improvements project can be accessed on the following link: http://go.ifrs.org/AI Some believe that because those changes are intended to improve requirements, they should naturally be incorporated in the IFRS for SMEs where they are relevant.	(b)	As we state in our cover letter, the IASB should avoid increasing the complexity of the IFRS for SMEs and changing the requirements of the standard too frequently. In general, the inclusion of options and/or cross-reference to provisions in full IFRSs tends to reduce the comparability of SME financial reporting and/or to increase the complexity of the standard. However, certain options provide flexibility, making it easier for national jurisdictions to comply with the standard. The IASB may wish to consider whether, over time, options may be eliminated based on appropriate consideration of feedback and analysis of the adoption and implementation practices of jurisdictions, and where a clearly preferred approach can be identified.

Part B: General questions

	Others note that each small change to the IFRS for SMEs would unnecessarily increase the reporting burden for SMEs because SMEs would have to assess whether each individual change will affect its current accounting policies. Those who hold that view concluded that, although the IFRS for SMEs was based on full IFRSs, it is now a separate Standard and does not need to reflect relatively minor changes in full IFRSs. How should the IASB deal with such minor improvements, where the IFRS for SMEs is based on old wording from full IFRSs? (a) Where changes are intended to improve requirements in full IFRSs and there are similar wordings and requirements in the IFRS for SMEs, they should be incorporated in the (three-yearly) omnibus exposure draft of changes to the IFRS for SMEs. (b) Changes should only be made where there is a known problem for SMEs, ie there should be a rebuttable presumption that changes should not be incorporated in the IFRS for SMEs. (c) The IASB should develop criteria for assessing how any such		It is also important that the standard is as stand-alone as possible, so as to ensure its simplicity, to facilitate a focus on the information needs of SMEs and their stakeholders, and to reinforce its status as a separate reporting standard from full IFRSs. Hence, IFRS for SMEs should only reflect minor changes in full IFRSs if there is (also) an obvious problem for SMEs.

	improvements should be incorporated (please give your suggestions for the criteria to be used). (d) Other—please explain. Please provide reasoning to support your choice of (a), (b), (c) or (d).
G2	Further need for Q&As One of the key responsibilities of the SMEIG has been to consider implementation questions raised by users of the IFRS for SMEs and to develop proposed non-mandatory guidance in the form of questions and answers (Q&As). These Q&As are intended to help those who use the IFRS for SMEs to think about specific accounting questions. The SMEIG Q&A programme has been limited. Only seven final Q&A have been published. Three of those seven deal with eligibility to use the IFRS for SMEs. No additional Q&As are currently under development by the SMEIG. Some people are of the view that, while the Q&A programme was useful	(c)	The Q&A program should not be continued in its present form because the IFRS for SMEs should be the only source of (principle-based) guidance for SMEs. Another set of rules or non-mandatory guidance puts this into question, risks expanding the extent and scope of the reporting requirements, and adds to complexity. New issues can be addressed by future updates to the IFRS for SMEs. We anticipate that some jurisdictions will lack the technical resources and expertise to deal with questions relating to the adoption and implementation of the standard, as they arise.

	when the IFRS for SMEs was first issued so that implementation questions arising in the early years of application around the world could be dealt with, it is no longer needed. Any new issues that arise in the future can be addressed in other ways, for example through education material or by future three-yearly updates to the IFRS for SMEs. Many who hold this view think that an ongoing programme of issuing Q&As is inconsistent with the principle-based approach in the IFRS for SMEs, is burdensome because Q&As are perceived to add another set of rules on top of the IFRS for SMEs, and has the potential to create unnecessary conflict with full IFRSs if issues overlap with issues in full IFRSs. Others, however, believe that the volume of Q&As issued so far is not excessive and that the non-mandatory guidance is helpful, and not a burden, especially to smaller organisations and in smaller jurisdictions that have limited resources to assist their constituents in implementing the IFRS for SMEs. Furthermore, in general, the Q&As released so far provide guidance on considerations when applying judgement, rather than		Accordingly, these jurisdictions may need some support mechanism to address these questions. Such a mechanism should not deal with matters that are specific to one jurisdiction or region, but needs to be confined to dealing solely with matters that are of true international relevance.

(b) No—the current Q&A programme has served its purpose and should not be continued. (c) Other—please explain. Please provide reasoning to support your choice of (a), (b) or (c).
G3	Treatment of existing Q&As As noted in question G2, there are seven final Q&As for the IFRS for SMEs. This comprehensive review provides an opportunity for the guidance in those Q&As to be incorporated into the IFRS for SMEs and for the Q&As to be deleted. Non-mandatory guidance from the Q&As will become mandatory if it is included as requirements in the IFRS for SMEs. In addition, any guidance	(a)	Consistent with discontinuing the Q&A program in its present form (see our response to G2) the current Q&As should be incorporated into the IFRS for SMEs as explained opposite, and discontinued as a stand-alone program. While this will add to the body of the IFRS for SMEs, we note that the existing Q&As are relatively few in may need to be incorporated in the IFRS for SMEs in a reduced format or may even be omitted altogether (if the IASB deems that the guidance is no longer applicable after the Standard is updated or that the guidance is better suited for inclusion in training material). The IASB would also have to decide whether any parts of the guidance that are not incorporated into the IFRS for SMEs should be retained in some fashion, for example, as an addition to the Basis for Conclusions accompanying the IFRS for SMEs or as part of the training material on the IFRS for SMEs. An alternative approach would be to continue to retain the Q&As separately where they remain relevant to the updated IFRS for SMEs. Under this approach there would be no need to reduce the guidance in the Q&As, but the guidance may need to be updated because of changes to the IFRS for SMEs resulting from the comprehensive review. Should the Q&As be incorporated into the IFRS for SMEs? (a) Yes—the seven final Q&As should be incorporated as explained above, and deleted.		number and their rate of issue appears to be declining.

G4	Training material The IFRS Foundation has developed comprehensive free-to-download self-study training material to support the implementation of the IFRS for SMEs. These are available on our website: http://go.ifrs.org/smetraining. In addition to your views on the questions we have raised about the IFRS for SMEs, we welcome any comments you may have about the training material, including any suggestions you may have on how we can improve it. Do you have any comments on the IFRS Foundation's IFRS for SMEs training material available on the link above? (a) No.	(b)	While we have no specific comments to make, we wish to stress the need for significant efforts to be directed at initiatives that facilitate the timely adoption and effective implementation of international standards.
